WATERFRONT BOATING TRAILS FAMILY FRIENDLY AFFORDABLE

Around the Block

If you are looking for a home where you have the space to stretch, then Kirkland is the place for you. With its tree-lined streets and beautifully-kept public waterfront parks, this particular suburb of Seattle has a luxurious, charming allure all its own.

What to expect: This neighborhood has been described as “a Pacific Northwest beach town”, and offers an impressive number of small, boutique shops and a wide selection of award-winning wineries, bars, and tasting rooms to explore.

What you'll love: You will love Kirkland if you're a weekend warrior who loves to explore trails and the waterfront on the weekends, but enjoy easy access to Seattle.

Unexpected appeal: Whether you're a fan of the outdoors, the art gallery, or the salon, this neighborhood has something for everyone.

Booming economy

Kirkland enjoys a thriving economy, with branches of many notable companies making it their home. Commercial residents include Tableau, Microsoft, Google, and IBM. For those who commute, downtown Seattle is a mere half-hour away via the 520 bridge.
